Western Way

- Westerners, especially Americans, like to greet EVERYONE
- It's typical to greet strangers when you walk by them on the street with a head nod or a smile
- Formally, westerners shake hands along with a phrase similar to “how are you”
- Informally, westerners will high five, pat on the back, or even hug (if the people are already acquainted) along with a phrase such as “what's up” or “how's it goin'”

Nonverbal Communication

- Heavy reliance on facial expression, tone of voice and posture to convey intention
- Lack of eye contact
- Personal space
- Touching is only common between family and close friends
